Wireless (Wi-Fi) Internet service at the North Dakota State Fair (NDSF) Center is currently offered free of charge.

You may use this service at your discretion and at your own risk. Network security (encryption) is NOT established on this wireless network which would protect data communications between your computer and the network. This wireless network is also open which means anyone within range of the service may connect to it. The reliability of this wireless (Wi-Fi) network is dependant on interference within the NDSF Center. Interference may occur with the presence of other wireless technology, structures (farm equipment, RVs, etc.) and the room by room layout of the NDSF Center.

Wireless (Wi-Fi) Internet service is compatible with both 802.11b and 802.11g wireless network adapters used in most home and office wireless networks.

If you require a more secure means of Internet service please contact SRT Business Sales at 852-8888 or 1-800-737-9130 and request Wire-line DSL Internet service.
